

JOB POSTING: Vice President, Cancer Control

Fewer people developing cancer. Fewer people dying from cancer. Better quality of life for those affected by the disease.

For the past ten years, the Canadian Partnership Against Cancer together with Canada's cancer community and people affected by cancer have worked together to implement the Canadian Strategy for Cancer Control and to deliver on these three share goals. While much has been accomplished, there is still work ahead.

As the steward of the Strategy, the Partnership facilitates collaboration across the cancer community and is helping to accelerate efforts that improve that effectiveness and efficiency of cancer control in Canada. The Vice President, Cancer Control plays a key role in these efforts, by: supporting systems change; strengthening collaboration; deepening the involvement of patients and the interested public; and leveraging innovation and the strengths and talents of CPAC's partners.

As Vice President, Cancer Control, reporting to the CEO, you will lead a high performing team, providing them with the guidance, direction and support to deliver measurable impact. You will collaborate with colleagues across CPAC to enhance the level of integration between divisions and to execute the new strategic plan, We See Progress (2017-2022). Externally, you will play a key role in facilitating consensus across the cancer community, developing new and innovative cancer control programs, supporting and celebrating the efforts and successes of partners, driving systems change and harmonization across Canada, and engaging patients and families in the development of solutions.

As the ideal candidate, you are a Medical Doctor and leading authority in cancer control. You have had great success as a partner, collaborator and thought leader within the cancer community and are considered by many to be an exceptional facilitator, communicator and consensus builder. You are a skilled leader and manager who creates high performing, team cultures that have impact. Your experience leading change within a highly decentralized, multi-stakeholder environment would be a definite asset as would your ability to communicate in both official languages.

To apply for this position, please submit your application and related materials to lfeldman@boyden.com and mnaufal@boyden.com and state the title of the position in the subject line of your e-mail.
